

Press release on behalf of Sleaford Historic Car and Motorcycle Show with Craft Fair
Saturday 6th September 2008

The organisers of this year's Sleaford Historic Car and Motorcycle Show are pleased to announce a number of new sponsors for 2008. Joining the roll call of companies supporting the show for the first time are Gerri's of Southgate and Scriminger Engine Developments of Poplar Business Park, both in Sleaford. The committee is grateful too to its regular sponsors Cawsey Motors, A&H Factors, Signs Express (Lincoln), Malc's BodyShop, Ferg Philip of Chop Shop Customs, Cogglesford Mill Cottage Restaurant, Ambitions and Lincolnshire Co-operative Ltd, so far re-confirmed, and of course Sleaford Town Council without whose help it would not be possible for us to hire St George's College facilities for the event

For the first time for many years the show will feature a display of static engines as well as the radio controlled racing cars and, during the day, the 'Scirroco to Morocco' team will be setting off on its expedition to north Africa.

Celebrity chef, James Martin, and Top Gear presenter and Telegraph journalist, James May, have both been invited to attend but as yet neither has been able to confirm. However, pioneering weatherman, meteorologist, vehicle enthusiast and TV presenter, Bill Giles, has confirmed that he will be attending and has even agreed to take a turn on the microphone.

There are still spaces for stalls, indoor and outdoor, at the event, although please note it is fully booked for food stalls. Entries are still welcome for special vehicles of all ages. Please see the website www.shcms.sleafordevents.co.uk for a copy of the entry form or for more information about stalls and sponsorship opportunities please call 01529 305755
